ABSTRACT

Clocks are synchronized using a reference clock in two possible ways. One

5   method uses two-way communication between a reference clock and a moving clock.

The other method uses one-way communication from the moving clock.